OVERVIEW

The annual TBSI Workshop on Learning Theory (TBSI-WOLT) aims to bring together the world's leading researchers in computer science, information theory, and related fields to explore deep unsolved problems about the machine learning and information theory. We are committed to provide a relaxed and enthusiastic discussion environment for cutting edge research problems, in which the multi-discipline collaborations are also encouraged. In this workshop, we also want to give students a chance to present their work to experts and peers, and receive creative insights. We explicitly encourage submissions of revolutionary concepts, path breaking ideas, and ongoing research prototypes.

Due to the global COVID-19 travel restrictions, accepted posters can be presented remotely. We encourage local students from Shenzhen to present on site for the best conference experience.

RULES & SUBMISSION INFORMATION

We accept student poster submissions in all areas of data and information science. The poster must be written in English. Please send the title, a maximum 100-word abstract and the poster draft in PDF format to tianbingzi@sz.tsinghua.edu.cn. Poster drafts and final posters should be approximately 92cm high by 122 cm wide in a landscape format. Accepted posters whose owners can not attend the workshop in person, should also submit a 30-second teaser video. This video should have captions.

High-quality posters will be invited for oral presentations at the Young Researchers' Forum session of the workshop.

WOLT 2022 student poster session will offer prizes up to 2000 RMB for the Best Poster Presentation. Each participant will also receive a participation gift from the workshop organizers.
